HAPPY EASTER

Thank You, Jesus, for all that You were willing to do that we might have forgiveness and the opportunity to become one of your children.

Thank You for dying for us, for rising from the dead and giving us eternal life. As I watched Joe die, trapped in that bed and in that body, I understood in a new way what eternity with You meant. In a split second he was finally set free to go with

You to heaven, springing and leaping like the man who was lame who You healed. For a moment in time I felt a wonderful joy when he was set free from the pain and tears. Thank You, Jesus, for the gift of eternal life that Joe is experiencing with You now at this Easter time. Amen.

Dear Praying Family & Friends,

Thank you for giving and praying for our family and the people and work here in Austria.

We're praising God that the home study has been growing and so has the worship service. Jonathan, our co-worker encouraged the people to ask God who they could invite to the Easter service. It was especially for guests with a special buffet afterwards. We were all please that some of the children from the home were able to come again.

We will be changing our place of worship back to the community center that we were in when we first started the church plant. The great thing about the change is that it's within walking distance from the children's home. Pray that it may be possible that those children that want to come regularly to church may get permission to do that on their own.

Please pray for the evangelistic Women's Breakfast on April 9th in Klosterneuburg. Pray for Karin Ebert who will be speaking on, "Values we want to give to the next generation – People are valuable and need values." Please pray that many women will come to the breakfast and learn about how much God values them. Although the nurse that Joe led to the Lord said she wanted to come, there ended up being a birthday celebration, so she and her mother won't be able to come. My visit in their home was very nice. I was able to talk about believing in God. It was great that it was her mother that wanted to talk about God.

Thank you for your prayers and continual financial support.

Love, Brenda
