intimacy in marriage

with so much going on who has time for unity and intimacy in marriage?

Love is patient, love it kind. It does not boast, it is not proud. It is not rude, it is not self-seeking, it is not easily angered, it keeps no record of wrongs. Love does not delight in evil but rejoices with the truth. It always protects, always trusts, always hopes, always perseveres.”

1 Corinthians 13:4-7 NIV

encouragement & growth

Join Dr. Ed Welch at Parkside Church, on February 12 for a 1-day conference on intimacy and unity in marriage. Many couples in the church are growing further apart both spiritually and physically. With so much business, fatigue, and spiritual assault our marriages are always in need of careful attention. As a church we believe that a day together on these matters is very important and to be able to do this with each other is the way the Spirit works. From praying and conversing with your spouse to experiencing and enjoying sexual intimacy with your spouse, Dr. Welch will offer biblical insight and teaching on these vital and important issues in marriage. You and your spouse will not want to miss this opportunity for mutual growth and encouragement.
